

Promoting collaboration on our continent

Since 2002, Omega Digital has played an active role in contributing towards the economic transformation of our continent by supplying collaboration tools to major clients in almost every African country.

As a South African company, we are part of the African people and continent, and proud to be so. Making a difference to the lives and businesses of our clients is critical for us, and this mission keeps us motivated and driven.

The opportunities in Africa are endless, and one of the key reasons for our growing business on the continent is the fact that Africans in general are very open to change, constant socio-economic improvement, and the need to evolve. In general, the physical infrastructure of African countries is not at the same level as elsewhere in the world. However, when it comes to IT infrastructure, Africa has the necessary bandwidth to attract significant investment from global manufacturers.

On any given day we are involved in multiple solutions and projects for global organisations across Africa. We work predominantly with public sector and corporate enterprise clients that are based in multiple countries around the world. No client has the exact same need as another so our ability to be agile greatly assists in achieving the outcome each of our customers require.

Collaboration tools are in high demand in African companies, and Omega has the skills and technology to implement these platforms for clients. Being the only Microsoft Meeting Room Partner for the continent demonstrates our reputation for effectively enabling collaboration across African organisations.

Making a productive investment in our continent requires the right collaboration partner. Contact us on one of the numbers below to find out how we can help you drive collaboration throughout the continent
